

Community Voice / Aboriginal Parent Taskforce...

School and Beyond's Partnership Broker based in the Riverland, has been working to bring together parents, uncles, aunties and other family members to talk with education and other agencies, to plan ways to support families to better support their youth at school.

So far in 2011, a group of Aboriginal Parents have met three times to share and plan. At the first meeting applications were begun for PaCE Projects. From this meeting three PaCE Projects have been funded through DEEWR and are now taking place in the Riverland. These projects are based on the parents ideas.

Two of the Riverland PaCE projects are supporting families to learn to use computers at their childrens' school. These projects support families with transport, shared morning teas and encourage school staff to build relationships with families.
